

Getting you moving

The AA is committed to being your number one motoring partner – you can rely on us when your vehicle lets you down

During 2010, AA Assistance was dispatched over 240 000 times to help Members whose cars had broken down.

What you might not know is that the skilled AA technicians and patrol personnel managed to get more than 95% of patrol cases back on the road without towing.

A patrol case refers to a request for roadside assistance related to any one of the following vehicle faults: a flat tyre or battery, if you run out of fuel or are locked out of your vehicle and electrical or mechanical failure.

The AA was able to help these Members to carry on with their lives without the inconvenience of having their cars towed. And it doesn't matter what time of the day or night you call. For example, on Christmas Day we assisted 250 people. Interested to know what our most popular service request is? The AA's battery service was the most utilised benefit in 2010, with a whopping 71 000 requests from Members. 🚗
